FREEDOM OF CHOICE

DELEGATES to the Republican national convention are advised by Life magazine in its current issue "to think it over" before letting New York's big electoral vote dictate automatic nomination for Gov. Dewey next month.

"The delegates to Chicago will perform a patriotic service if they delay the stamped at least long enough for the midwest's case to be heard," says Life.

We believe the delegates, in this connection, are endowed with more sense than they have been getting credit for. Nevertheless, for any publication with a New York address to mention it is a novelty. For example, on the same day that Life was pleading for more attention to the midwest, the New York Herald Tribune, which sometimes professes to know what the Republican party is thinking, was telling its readers with naive surprise that Gov. Dewey's nomination would not be automatic after all because Sen. Ball of Minnesota planned to place in nomination his state's former governor, Lt. Comm. Stassen. The Herald Tribune apparently never heard of Gov. Bricker, for instance, and ignores completely the positive fact that he is the only active Republican candidate and that his name for a certainty will be placed before the convention.

LIFE has heard of Gov. Bricker. It says he, Senators Taft and Burton of Ohio, and former Gov. Stassen all are well qualified as midwestern presidential candidates. The case for the midwestern background which Life makes is pretty much the same as would be made by any midwesterner with a little time to think about it. This is the heart of the Republican party's strength in congress and the heart of the party, itself.

If a Republican becomes chief executive, he will have to lean on the loyalties and convictions of the midwest to weather the storm.

Meanwhile, the nation will be leaning on the balanced foreign policy viewpoint of the midwest to offset the off-center internationalists. In short, the midwest is the happy medium in politics.

"The midwest is just like the rest of America, only more so," is Life's phrase.

THE magazine's implication that national policy is a matter of geography seems to us just as tricky as the motion of nominating Gov. Dewey avowedly to clinch New York's electoral votes in the fall. The notion of any nomination which fails to put main emphasis on character is preposterous. Monkey business which ignored that gave the nation the New Deal as a surprise package a decade ago. It gave us Henry A. Wallace in the vice presidency. There has been too much band-wagon jumping for voting support and not enough reliance on principles.

THE purpose of a party convention is to pick a dependable man who can win the election. It is not to confirm someone's wishful thinking—certainly not the wishful thinking of the persons who keep shouting that Gov. Dewey's nomination is in the bag because that's where they want it to be.

Gov. Dewey is one of many good men in the Republican party. Gov. Bricker is also a good man. Senators Taft and Burton are good men. There are many more—all good men. The party can take its pick. It has freedom of choice, to distinguish it from the Democratic party, which can nominate anyone it wants, just so long as it nominates Franklin D. Roosevelt.

STRIKES—CAUSE AND EFFECT

There may seem nothing to do about the paradox of a strike epidemic at the height of the nation's war effort but apologize for it. That, however, is superficial judgment.

Strikes are not ordained by any higher law, or even by the nature of the labor leaders who variously cause them, or are unable to prevent them. In many instances, apparently a majority of instances, they are the result of confusion and friction resulting from a hodge-podge labor policy and misfit labor laws. It is literally true that strikes are the whirlwind being reaped from past errors. They are not inevitable. They were induced.

They are the effect of a cause which goes back into the record of national labor policy—not merely the record since 1933, but the record beyond 1933. To whatever extent strikes are hurting America today, to that same extent must blame be placed on events of yesterday which sowed the whirlwind. Until those events have been corrected, there will continue to be strikes. Even after that happened, there would still be some strikes that might properly be classified as unavoidable, but the total would be nothing like that now swollen by an epidemic of avoidable work stoppages.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, May 24

A PARTICULARLY lively and enterprising day is forecast from the ruling aspects which stimulate the energies, faculties and ambitions. In this there will be ready co-operation from public, community and influential sources, especially with agencies, communications, travel, publicity and business. But a subtle and tricky under current must be handled with shrewdness and sound judgment rather than emotional or sensational urges in order to avert regrets and delays. Maintain balance, vigilance and common sense in all sinister attacks.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a very lively and interesting year, with new fields of operation, travel, dealing with agents or public channels of publicity and promotion. Writings, new contracts or verbal agreements should thrive, but be alert to subtle snares or bewildering intrigues, with suspicious or malevolent intent. Read all documents cautiously and preserve sound judgment and logic where schemes or pitfalls menace or cause delays, disappointments or regrets, with grave consequences. With care there is progress.

A child born on this day may have much business sagacity, with talent of a literary or creative skill in many lines. Its tendency to emotional or sensational extremes, with craft and cunning or expediency rather than principle, should be given early direction.

The Dies Committee

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If you are a betting man, don't give any odds that the withdrawal of Martin Dies from the second congressional district race in Texas will end the "Dies committee."

The "Special Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities"—that's its official title—was set up in May, 1938. No special committee in Congress has received so much attention since that time. Even the major permanent committees have to take a back seat occasionally but there have been few weeks in six years when the "Dies committee" wasn't in the headlines.

You may or may not like Cong. Dies and his committee, but there are many members of the House who would trade their obscurity for the limelight that Martin Dies has had, even if the spot frequently drew as many eggs as roses.

There's a rumor now that a petition may be circulated to draft Dies, despite his declaration that a throat ailment will keep him out of the race. There's another that a petition is being circulated to perpetuate the "Dies committee" with whatever personnel it has left plus new appointments. A third possibility is that the Republicans will have a majority in the 79th Congress, and will make quite a noise about abolishing the Dies committee altogether.

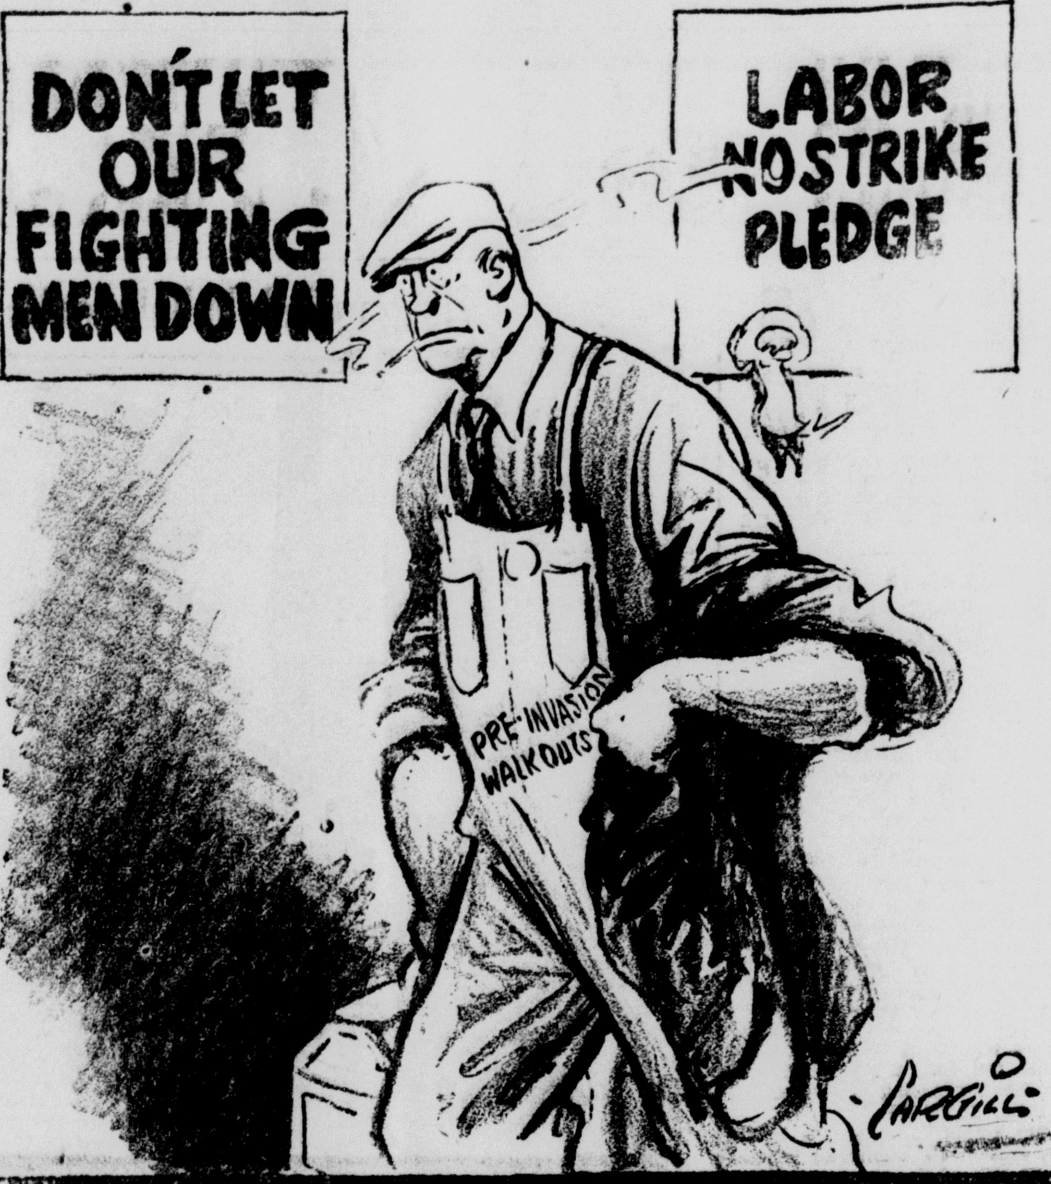

There is however one school of thought here which argues that the defeat of Rep. Joe Starnes in the Alabama primaries indicates that the Dies committee is marked for the discard. He was the No. 2 man on the committee. It's no secret that he had the opposition of organized labor. Starnes comes from an industrial district in Alabama (centered on Gadsden) which has had a considerable influx of union labor since the war.

Some observers feel that Dies' foes won a signal victory in Alabama and were marshalling their forces to duplicate that victory in the second district of Texas.

On the other hand, friends of Dies here say his throat ailment is critical and will demand an operation from which it will be impossible for him to recover in time to enter actively into the campaign—and that is his sole reason for withdrawal.

Nevertheless, the defeat of the Dies committee's No. 2 man and the withdrawal of its chairman leave the committee in pretty sad state. If it were continued in its present form there would only be six "veterans" and only three of these would have been on more than two years (providing of course that these men are re-elected). Its chairman would be Rep. Wirt Courtney Dem., Tenn., erudite 55-year-old lawyer, a three-ermer in the House but a comparative newcomer to the embattled Dies committee.

Customary Breakfast Too Low In Calories

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF my more social minded physiological friends, or perhaps more physiologically minded social friends, whichever you want to call him, is looking with alarm on the modern American breakfast.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

fast. He is inclined to believe that it is among the factors that are undermining the Republic. He often quotes one of the wealthy but less rhetorical candidates for vice-president who, in his acceptance speech, uttered the pleading cry, "Oh! my fellow countrymen, don't do as Rome done."

My friend claims to have found a wall inscription at Pompeii which indicates the reason for Rome's fall—"Per jentaculum, uva, panis, foretre et lac concretum"—which he translates—"Crumb" juice, toast and coffee."

From what proud heights of the pioneer American breakfast has this anemic substitute degenerated into, exclaims my friend. That early American breakfast of boiled potatoes, lamb or veal swimming in gravy, baked beans, three or four helpings of wheat cakes and molasses and oceans of coffee. And now "orange juice, toast and coffee."

Deplores Small Breakfast

And what is the result, he grieves. The result is that in every factory, office building and institution in the land there are vending machines in the lobby where ice cream cones, pop and bottles of syrupy liquids are dispensed on the insertion of a nickel in the slot and there are exhausted of their contents by mid-morning from the onslaught of the workers furnished by the rapid absorption of a breakfast consisting of "orange juice, toast and coffee."

There is much that appeals to me in this theory. Not that I would go back to the New England breakfast, because one of the main requirements of breakfast is that it be easily digested. But today what with mother off to the lathe or the Red Cross and father rushing for the car pool and brother coming in from the night shift and the children to be hustled to school, breakfast is likely to be a really inadequate meal as he suggests.

Of course, "orange juice, toast and coffee" is the skeleton of a good breakfast. The modern American, in whose good sense I still believe, has left the outline at least. In the orange juice he has rapidly absorbed and concentrated energy and enough Vitamin C for his whole day; also, by the way, quite a little Vitamin A and B and the riboflavin part of Vitamin G. Yes, we cannot forego orange juice or some substitute for breakfast.

Augmented American Breakfast

On the toast he has some vegetable protein, more Vitamin B, iron and 50 to 100 calories, depending on the size of the slice of toast. We presume he has some butter or margarine on the toast, so he gets some more calories. And coffee with cream and sugar is a good energizer for the old heart that must pump him to work.

But such a breakfast is woefully deficient in calories, protein and some minerals, notably salt. Let us see—how many calories should breakfast contain? The total number of calories you need daily is at least 2,000. That breakfast you are really breaking a fast, having gone without nourishment for at least ten or twelve hours and you are facing the hardest and most calorie-depleting period of the working day. I should say you should count on the evening meal for the heaviest stoking, making from 800 to 1,000 calories, so breakfast should be counted on to supply at least 500 calories. This can be supplied easily by adding to the orange juice, toast and coffee an egg or two, or a cereal, or a sausage, or bacon. Or, borrowing from our continental friends, some Danish pastry, or gnocchi, petite pancakes, or Koldolmer.

The monotony of this modern kitchenette American breakfast is also against it. Once a week, yes, but daily it has no soul. There are a dozen raw fruits—grapefruit, tomato juice, plums, apple sauce, strawberries, raspberries—all containing the necessary vitamins.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Miss Thelma Ruth Davis, valedictorian of the graduating class of the Mansfield High school here, stood before an audience of over 1,000 persons recently and unfalteringly gave her address to the class while the body of her brother, Sgt. Lowell M. Davis, who was killed in a plane crash the week before, lay at her parents' home not far away.

Radio Programs

Red Skelton goes on tonight in what had been announced as the last broadcast by the 31-year-old comedian before responding to a call into the army, set for May 25. However, in view of the fact that an appeal to his draft board has been made in his behalf, it may not be the finale.

Doctor Admitted to Law

Practice at Age of 95

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Dr. Joseph H. Shull, 95-year-old Stroudsburg, Pa., lawyer and physician, was admitted to practice before the Supreme court today—oldest man ever so admitted.

His son, Judge Samuel Shull, 66, was admitted at the same time.

Dr. Shull established a medical practice in Stroudsburg in 1875 and was admitted to the bar in 1878 after reading law for two years because he was called frequently to offer medical testimony in courts.

Lanney And Ritchie Turn In One-Hit Games To Win 2-1

Two Pitchers Win Close Battles As News, Paxsons Both Drop Second Of Year

Two low hitting, closely contested pitcher's battles featured the opening of the second week of Class A softball at the park last night, as the News dropped a thriller in the first inning to Sheens, 2 to 1, in the last game, and Dale Ritchie came through with another one-hitter to cop the China's fourth straight win, 2 to 1, over Paxsons.

The two winners took their games behind superb pitching. Ritchie only allowed one bingle in the seven-inning stretch and Francis Lanney, doing the elbow work for Sheens, limited the News to a lone single in the first inning.

The twirlers who opposed the winning combinations, Chet Brautigan for the News, and Mutt Schaeffer for Paxsons, turned in excellent shows of their own. Brautigan allowed four hits in five innings before he was relieved by Orrie Wright, who allowed a single and gave up three free bases in the final inning to set up the loss for the News.

Only 4 Hits Off Schaeffer
Mutt Schaeffer, who has taken over the mound duties for Paxsons since their initial loss to the News, held the hard hitting China crew to four hits in the stretch. The three errors piled up by his teammates went a long way toward setting the stage for the defeat.

The News opened the first game with a run after Glenn Couchie collected the only hit in the first frame. Malloy, Middleton and Jones got on by walks and fielder's choices to load the bases and score the first run.

The game went along in top-notch style until the final inning when Kirby Laughlin beat out a bouncer down first for a hit. Wright then walked three straight to push across the tying run. The winning margin came on a fielder's choice with one out.

China Well In Lead
The Chinas set up the victory mark in the second inning when Dale Ritchie singled and stretched it to a double with a nice slide into second. Here Paxsons errors played a disastrous role and Del Faver's hit pushed across the two runs.

The Paxson squad tightened up from here on and came through with a run in the fifth but couldn't touch Ritchie for the needed run to tie things up.

The victory places China well out in the lead of the league with just one more game—a fracas with the Recreation's Friday—between them and a sure championship in the first round. The Rees are unbeaten in two games.

Third place is all tied up between the News, Paxsons and Sheens with Mullins and Demings still to get in the running after a couple of more games. Neither has won a game this year.

Parimutuel Bets Going Up; Gopd Season Seen

By LEWIS BURTON
International News Writer
NEW YORK—Parimutuel betting is destined to join America's group of billion-dollar industries in 1944. A racing official, though refusing to lend his name to the prediction, characterized it as "inevitable."

The fantastic start of the 190-day New York turf season, coupled with complete returns from Florida, has compelled an upward revision of the most optimistic estimates. Solid basis for expectation that the billion-mark will be passed is found in the $710,799,432 total for mule wagering in this country last year.

Big Betters Absent
Certain startling conclusions are to be drawn from Jamaica's record opening, when 45,796 people turned out and bet only $2,601,836. The word "only" is used advisedly for, in spite of the fact that the figures stagger the imagination, they did not maintain the average betting rate of last season.

The biggest operators held off on opening day. They usually do in the early spring. They wait for a better line on the horses, always looking for the solid things. Nevertheless, like ballplayers and the homes themselves, they get their Spring training—at the mutuel windows.

$86 Daily Average
Last season, the average daily bet in New York state was close to $86 per person. At Jamaica on opening day, the average was $59. In view of the ardor of the fans, as gauged by their turnout for the inaugural, it may be anticipated that the average will rise steadily.

Even though the $3,000,000 day has yet to be delivered, speculation on its possibility is now outmoded. It safely can be said that there will be a goodly number of afternoons when that figure will be exceeded. The question now is whether the tracks will be resourceful enough this year to handle the $4,000,000 day when the fans are ready and rarin' for it.

45 Per Cent Rise
Florida, with $100,000,000 bet on horse dogs and jai alai this winter as compared with $69,000,000 a year ago, gives the first index to the proportion of increase that 1944 may have in store. The rise amounts to 45 per cent. It is due in part, however, to a greater number of racing dates in the season, when Hialeah had to be shut down because of the gas ban.

More revealing information will be available on the financial side of horseracing very shortly, with

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK, May 23.—By way of explaining those Sunday baseball crowds, the figures show competition still is there, if quality isn't.

Out of 246 major league games so far, 79 have been decided by one run. That's a 32.1 average, which is good in any league. Incidentally, the Yanks have won five out of six one-runners and the Cards four out of seven. The Indians have played 15 of those tight games and the Braves and Dodgers 13 each.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
John McGill, Jr., Ashland, Ky., Daily Independent: "Stanley Musial of the Cardinals passed his pre-induction physical with flying colors, which might well provoke St. Louis to fly its colors at half mast."

ONE MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
After attending a race meeting at El Paso, Roy Hodges, the boss trainer, was convinced that Texas will legalize mutuel betting again soon. Midwestern scriblers have begun to complain about the way Michigan's twins, Ross and Bob Hume, deliberately try to run dead heats. They figure a race should be a race and not a family reunion. The Clinton, Iowa, "700" bowling club—with just 13 members—won the First National tourney of the 700 bowlers with a 3218 score.

A FENCY EXPLANATION
We can't vouch for the truth of this explanation, but it's a good one—back in the old days, Arlie Latham was playing in the outfield on Staten Island when a goat wandered onto the field. Play halted while the athletes pursued the animal and Arlie finally caught the goat and threw it over the fence. As he heaved, Arlie remarked "over the fence is out." And that's how the saying started.

Burglar Alarm Designer Turns To Booby Traps
SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—Before Pearl Harbor, C. A. Lawrence designed burglar alarms, but now he applies his ingenuity to booby traps.

TIGERS AND CARDS HOTTEST CLUBS IN MAJOR CLASS NOW

Full Day of Rest Gets 16 Clubs Ready For Square Off

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Detroit and the St. Louis Cardinals rank as the two hottest clubs in the major leagues today on the eve of the second intersectional series of the season.

When the Tigers started their eastern swing they were buried in last place but their 10 out of 14 pace sent them soaring into fourth and only four games off the Yankee pace.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout was Steve O'Neill's ace in the sport, winning all four of his starts, one from each eastern team and allowing only five runs and 29 hits in 36 innings. Hal Newhouse picked up a pair and Rufe Gentry and Stubby Overmire graduated into the victory column to help the cause.

The western teams of the National, paced by the Cardinals with nine triumphs in 13 starts, handled the eastern invaders in easy fashion by playing 615 ball. Only the Boston Braves, who got spectacular pitching to break even in 14 games, could remain at an even keel. Brooklyn nose dived from fifth to seventh with only four wins in 14 tries.

No Standout Team
In the American east the home teams had the edge but had to scramble to keep above the 500 mark by taking 31 of 56. Detroit's success saved the other visitors from a complete rout although each showed flashes of form.

All indications pointed toward a real knock-down drag-out scramble in the American. Now that every club has played all the others it is apparent there is no stand-out team.

The Cardinals lost a series to Boston, two to one, but tightened their hold on first place while the other western teams began to take charge of the first division. Philadelphia in fourth place is the only eastern nine in the top four.

Even the Cubs began to pull out of the basement, taking seven of 13 their last four in a row. While the rest of the major leagues are traveling, the New York Giants and Brooklyn will resume night ball in the metropolitan district tonight with an 8:45 p. m. game at Ebbetts field.

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Sen. Bushfield (R-SD) says that while farmers are trying to get along with less than "a third of the machinery they need," farm equipment is "gathering dust" in warehouses in North Africa. The senator said a civilian government official, stationed in North Africa, told him of seeing "two big warehouses filled with new American-made combines and other farm machinery which had been in storage for at least a year."

TAX BILL

The house was to send the tax simplification bill to President Roosevelt today. It had been planned to do this yesterday but other legislative matters intervened.

SEDITION

After more than five weeks, the mass sedition conspiracy trail may reach the testimony stage today. Defense attorneys, except those who are reserving their opening statements, are expected to complete their introductory addresses to the jury sometime today.

WAR PLANT SHUTDOWNS

The War Production board (WPB) says there's little chance that either of the Brewster Aeronautical Corp.'s two plants whose Navy contracts end July 1 will be turned to civilian production. Federal agencies and departments are working on new military contracts for the Long Island City, N. Y., and Johnsville, Pa., plants.

WARD

A special house committee turned its spotlight today on the focal point of the Montgomery Ward labor dispute—a collective bargaining election held to see whether the CIO held a majority in the Chicago mail order plant which was seized by the government April 26.

Gerard Reilly, member of the National Labor Relations board which conducts such elections, was summoned by the Ramspeck committee to explain details of that voting.

About 75 per cent of the rubber we use goes into tires, according to Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

BRITAIN CUTS

Nazi radio warnings and reassurances about the impending invasion included an estimate that 3,500,000 troops are poised in the south of England for a thrust against the continent, the biggest Nazi estimate thus far.

Berlin radio broadcast an article in the Berlin Borsen Zeitung conceding the Allies would excel in power and weight of equipment in the opening phases of the assault but said "fast armored forces are standing by for counter-attacks against any threatened points and to isolate penetrations. The Allies hardly will be able to out-tank us immediately after the landing."

U. S. army field commanders were in possession of a 24-page booklet from headquarters urging their full cooperation with war correspondents in sending an accurate report of the fighting steadily back home to counteract Nazi propaganda.

In the wake of a broadcast appeal yesterday by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's invasion headquarters for European patriots to be ready to act as guides for Allied troops, the German radio today said that the only road signs left in France are in code.

"France is like a steel hedgehog now, with fortified villages, barricaded roads and soldiers everywhere," the radio asserted.

On the heels of yesterday's assertion by President Roosevelt that the Allies would strike blows at Europe from the east, south and west, the German-controlled Vichy radio said: "German reconnaissance was revealed large concentrations of troops on Corsica. It is possible these portend an attack on the Italian coast opposite the island."

FIFTH ARMY

At midnight, infantry of the first wave had gone into final position from the assembly areas.

With panic and frequency, the Germans during the hours of darkness set up blue and yellow flares. Machineguns spluttered from each side of the circular front.

Deep on the left flank in the brush-covered ravines near Camp Di Carne, British infantry raiders fought from 10:30 p. m. last night until dawn, after jumping off with a barrage of 2,200 shells.

DEATHS

THOMAS PATRICK HYNES

Funeral service will be held at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday in St. John's Catholic church in Canton for Thomas Patrick Hynes, 71, retired signal foreman for the Pennsylvania railroad, who died Sunday at Canton Aultman hospital.

Burial will be in Canton. Friends may call at the Seeholtz funeral home, 401 Third st. NW, Canton. Born in East Palestine in 1873, the son of Patrick and Mary Quinn Hynes, he had lived in Canton for 30 years, going there from Leontonia. He retired five years ago after working 49 years for the railroad.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Connelly, formerly of Lisbon, and three nephews and seven nieces, including Mrs. Earl Deville of Salem.

CRACK ENEMY

tured in the five mile long Monte Oros railroad tunnel which runs under the mountains north of Terracina on which fighting is taking place.

Further inland, in the vicinity of Lanola, American infantry advanced over difficult country despite stiff German resistance.

Still further inland, in the San Leucio-Pico area, the Germans counter-attacked with a large number of tanks, forcing slight withdrawals of the flanks of the American and French forces there. They did not succeed in penetrating Allied lines, however, and the summit of Monte San Leucio remains in Allied hands.

The Allied beachhead force observed the start of its fifth month at Anzio by inflicting heavy casualties on the Germans with artillery fire which broke up a German counter-attack on raiding forces which the Allies had sent out. Some prisoners were taken.

Planes Lend Support

Between 500 and 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, together with many hundreds of medium, light and fighter-bombers, were thrown into a great aerial onslaught against enemy concentrations, communications and positions in night and day support of the ground forces.

Heavy bombers blasted Avezzano, Palestrina and Valmontone, all key points behind the lines where the enemy has massed men, guns and supplies, ready to throw them into action.

RAP Wellingtons and Liberators early today blasted Ferentino and Valmontone, both south of Rome on Highway 6.

An Allied headquarters commentator said evidence of German reinforcements had grown. The enemy has been rushing additional troops to the various points as they are threatened by Allied thrusts.

(A German DNB news agency broadcast today said the battles on the Italian front are comparable to "the great battles on the Somme, at Verdun and in Flanders during the last war.")

It was disclosed that the Allies at Plumarola had knocked out and captured the first example in Southern Europe of a hornet self-propelled 88-millimeter gun on a Mark four tank chassis.

each taxpayer and dependent to replace the present scale of $1,200 for a married couple plus $350 for each dependent.

Service Exemption Same
It does not disturb the present $1,500 exemption allowed men and women in the armed services above their regular family status credits.

To provide "freedom from computation" relief at the close of this year, pending January effective date of the new withholding system, all those with wages and salaries up to $5,000 and receiving no more than $100 from sources not subject to withholding will be permitted simply to file a withholding receipt in place of a regular return.

These taxpayers will list their dependents on the reverse side of this receipt, to be furnished by their employers, and enter the amounts of "other income," if any. They then will mail the receipt to their local tax collector, who in turn will compute the tax and send a bill.

Teacher Electrocuted

CINCINNATI, May 23.—High tension wires apparently weakened by a storm snapped suddenly, wrapped themselves around the neck of 73-year-old James Satterfield, and electrocuted the former Pittsburgh High school teacher as he walked along a street at nearby Harrison.

Hamilton County Coroner Frank M. Coppock, Jr., said the wires carried 2,300 volts. The retired educator lived at Transfer, near Sharon, Pa.

Sons Killed In Crash

NORWALK, May 23.—Charles Nearhood, 17, and his brother, Harold, 26, sons of Charles Nearhood, Sr., of nearby Bellevue, were killed at midnight when the truck in which they were riding with their father crashed into a parked automobile here.

OLD LINE

"One of the saddest aspects of this plot," he asserted, "is that many well-intentioned conscientious laborers in our great industries, believing that they are enjoying the fruits of their rights to organize and bargain collectively, are being duped and misled into a form of national socialism that will be obnoxious to them when they recognize it—which will be too late."

"Such a program will take from all people their freedom. It will chain business, labor, agriculture and all segments of society to an all-powerful government."

The Ohio governor added that he always had been a friend of organized labor, believed in the right to strike and peaceful picketing and that government should protect labor in the lawful exercise of those rights.

He declared, however, that "labor organizations must merit their power if they are to endure. They must serve their members and not a selfish political power."

In Nazi Prison Camp

EAST LIVERPOOL, May 23.—Three East Liverpool men, members of a bomber crew shot down over enemy territory, are prisoners in the same German camp, one of the captives, Staff Sgt. George Orin, advised Postmaster Ralph C. Bendum in a letter today.

Although the names of Orin's companions were not given because of German censorship regulations, one of them is known to be Staff Sgt. Mike Komo.

Sgt. Orin, a radioman on a bomber, was captured after a raid over Hamburg last July.
